

Appendix 5: Foundations Identified Through Literature Review

Foundations that have supported training for advanced home care worker roles include:

- Michigan Health Endowment Fund
- Tides Foundation
- Ann Berman and the Mandell L. and Madeleine H. Berman Family Foundation
- Harry and Jeanette Weinberg Foundation
- UJA Federation of New York
- Tufts Health Plan Foundation is funding coalition building in CT, MA, NH and RI.
- W. K. Kellogg Foundation,
- Woodcock Foundation
- The John A. Hartford Foundation (JAHF)
- Health Endowment IMI)

In addition, a number of foundations are supporting research on broader LTSS issues, as reported in a recent Health Affairs blog:

- Robert Wood Johnson Foundation (RWJF) supported recent report on social insurance for LTSS in states
- Donaghue Medical Research Foundation is funding research on dual eligibles and assisted living.
- Rita and Alex Hillman Foundation, the Harry and Jeanette Weinberg Foundation, Next50 Initiative, the RRF Foundation for Aging, and St. David's Foundation are funding the CAPABLE program in different states.
- The Jewish Healthcare Foundation (JHF) has focused on what COVID-19 Exposed in Long-Term Care.
- The California Health Care Foundation is supporting research on LTSS and Medicaid in CA.
- The AARP Foundation, the Commonwealth Fund, and the SCAN Foundation are supporting a State Scorecard, which ranks LTSS on affordability and access, choice of settings and providers, quality of life and quality of care, support for family caregivers, and effective transitions
- Arnold Ventures is supporting research on SNFs and covid-19.
- The Milbank Memorial Fund is supporting research on LTSS cost and distributional issues.
- Archstone Foundation (California focus)
- Margaret A. Cargill Philanthropies (eight states in the Upper Midwest and Pacific Northwest, no unsolicited proposals)

- Health Foundation for Western and Central New York.
- * Fan Fox and Leslie R. Samuels Foundation supports work to delay entry to SNFs.
- * May and Stanley Smith Charitable Trust (Western US and British Columbia, Canada) include Caregiver Support and Quality Long-Term Care.